CALLING ALL REVELLERS TO TREASURY BRISBANE THIS SEPTEMBER

Treasury Brisbane will be launching into Spring with a jam-packed calendar of events throughout September to celebrate its long-term Star Partnership with Brisbane Festival.

Expanding on the world-class line-up of artists on show at Treasury Brisbane Arcadia, the Brisbane icon will be calling all revellers to celebrate our River City this Spring with an explosion of colour, pop-up bars and entertainment across its two heritage buildings.

Festivities launch 5pm Friday 6 September in sun-soaked style with Raise Your Glass on the Grass, a sunset lawn party in Queen's Park set to turn the wick up on after-work drinks every Friday, followed by the opening of Chin Chin To Gin, an outrageous late-night pop-up bar at Fat Noodle that will be the hottest ticket in town to keep the post-show party going from Treasury Brisbane Arcadia.

Capping off the month-long carnival, Treasury Brisbane's exclusive Hotel Rooftop will come alive with Light Up The Night – the ultimate Sunsuper Riverfire party with a front row vantage point of Brisbane's biggest fireworks display.

Treasury Brisbane Chief Operating Officer Kelvin Dodt said the property was proud to mark its long-standing partnership with Brisbane Festival with its biggest September program yet.

"As the only 24/7 entertainment destination in Brisbane, our river-side property is perfectly placed to add to the spectacle of Australia's largest international arts festival," Kelvin said.

"Every Friday evening the lawn in front of Treasury Hotel will be a hive of activity with deck chairs, DJs and cocktails, while our Chin-Chin To Gin pop-up bar will be the ultimate late-night after-party to Treasury Brisbane Arcadia.

“In addition, our exclusive rooftop terrace at Treasury Hotel is only used for the biggest moments on the calendar and we’re excited to bring this spectacular location to life for Sunsuper Riverfire.”

Brisbane Festival Chief Operating Officer Charlie Cush said Treasury Brisbane’s dazzling program of pop-up events magnified the entertainment offering for visitors and locals throughout September.

“As our Star Partner, Treasury Brisbane raises the bar year-on-year. In 2019, they’ve embraced the ‘reveller’ spirit with both hands with a sparkling program of activities that will ensure the Brisbane Festival celebrations continue round-the-clock all month.

“We’re excited that the colour and vibrancy of our popular Treasury Brisbane Arcadia will be mirrored across the river at Treasury’s home base and look forward to another fantastic year of partnership with The Star team.”

Encompassing 84 shows across seven venues, including Treasury Brisbane Arcadia located at the South Bank Cultural Forecourt, Brisbane Festival enables more than 1,500 artists to grace the city’s stages and more than 500,000 people the chance to join in on a month-long celebration of Brisbane.

With sunsets and sundowners by the lawn every Friday, luminous pink cocktails and thrilling entertainment at Fat Noodle’s late-night pop-up bar, mouth-watering dishes at award-winning restaurants and an iconic five-star hotel, Treasury Brisbane will be the thrilling heartbeat of Brisbane Festival this September.

PINK HALO COCKTAIL

Pretty in pink, all night long

With Fat Noodle Bar turning pink every Thursday, Friday and Saturday night throughout September with Chin Chin To Gin, Gordon's Pink Gin has exclusively created the ultimate celebratory drink. Introducing the outrageous Pink Halo Cocktail, a vibrant and scrumptious creation set to be the drink of this year's Brisbane Festival.

Contents:

- Gordon's Pink Gin
- Passionfruit and Almond Syrup
- Lime Juice
- Fresh Mint
- Garnish with a sugar rimmed martini glass

Jonathan Phipps, Director of Food & Beverage, Treasury Brisbane:

"Our exclusive collaboration with Gordon's Pink Gin has created the perfect cocktail to celebrate spring. We take Gordon's subtle balance of juniper and natural sweetness of raspberries, strawberries and redcurrant, and dial it up with tangy fresh lime juice and sweet passionfruit and almond syrup. The result is a beautifully balanced cocktail in a vibrant shade of pink."

STEAK YOUR CLAIM TO BBQ GLORY THIS SPRING

How to cook the perfect steak

Backyard barbeques are synonymous with Spring in Brisbane and one of the key ingredients to a successful soiree is nailing your steak game.

Avoiding an overcooked disaster is enough to make some balk at the grill so we've turned to the Tom Mumford, Head Chef of one of Queensland's most celebrated steak restaurants - Black Hide by Gambaro at Treasury Brisbane, to talk through the art of cooking the perfect steak.

- Choosing the right steak is crucial. Consider a high marbled cut.
- Use a thicker cut of meat, this will enable you to get your desired cooking temperature more easily.
- Bring the steak out of the fridge 10 minutes before you cook.
- Use a good flake salt.
- Cook with a flat style grill will allow you to get a better crust.
- Make sure your barbeque grill is very hot.
- Once you have your crust, to tell if it is medium rare: The steak should still be soft to the touch and starting to show a little bit of resistance. Once the steak starts to tighten up and some juices come to the surface you are at medium rare. At this time, you should take the steak off BBQ unless you want it medium-well to well-done.
- Always take the steak off a little underdone, rest it for 5 minutes. When you are ready to eat it flash the steak again on the barbeque grill to bring it up to your desired temperature.
